However, it's important to know that help is still available, even if you can't leave your home. Dr. Laurie Appel, a local Psychologist, has informed us that she, as well as many other therapists and psychologists, are now offering teletherapy as an alternative to in-office visits. These visits are done through HIPAA compliant and confidential telemedicine websites and are covered by most insurances just like in-office visits. So, please don't hesitate to get help for yourself, your teen or your family during this time of crisis.
